Product Description:

A coffee table that combines the charm of design with the novelty of unexpected structure. In fact, the underlying idea of the Aracne coffee table is to make everything lighter by increasing the number of anchor points: the eight legs just barely touching the ground produce a shape evocative of the animal world while the glass top almost appears to float in mid-air.

The perfect proportions among the table's component parts convey a sense of elegance and harmony that does not, however, detract from its striking originality: in this design, wood and glass come together to create a truly distinctive piece of furniture that not only lends refinement to any space but also injects a dose of beauty into everyday life.
