Product Description:

With its pared-down design and sophisticated detailing, the originality of the Marcello, Massimo and Vittorio vases lies in its very shape. Its distinctive arches and aesthetic precision evoke Italian architecture, revisited here in perfect proportion to the scale of the product.

The stylistic choices making up this case reflect a much broader vision, however, and it is these choices that transform the classic conception of "vase". Each arch is accompanied by two separate containers. A traditional architectural element thus liberates this common object from its traditional function and each piece contains multiple vases within the same vase. The material choice, ceramic, is another unique trait. This natural, living material changes as it is being worked to give rise to those tiny irregularities that are the unmistakable mark of a product of highly skilled Italian craftsmanship.
